Registration has now opened for the 5th Annual San Diego Junior Amateur Championship hosted by Future Champions Golf to be held December 28-30, 2011. New for this year will be a 54-Hole event for the 15-18 Divisions with a cut after 36-Holes. Established in 2008 to be the west coast's premier winter break junior golf event, the SD Junior Am has quickly become a breeding ground for some of the games strongest players. All of our past San Diego Junior Amateur Champions are now playing Division 1 Golf. Standouts include the inaugural champion, Chris Williams who now plays for the University of Washington and was recruited at our event. Chris was just selected to represent the US on the Walker Cup Team for 2011 which is the pinnacle for Amateur Golf. Other notables include Todd Baek, our 2009 Champion who was a standout on the San Diego State Men's team who went onto Nationals this year and had their best season ever as a team. He also made it to the quarterfinals of the United States Public Links Championship this year. We cannot leave out former 2-Time SD Junior Amateur Champion, Beau Hossler who has had an incredible 2011 season playing in the US Open, winning the Callaway Junior World at Torrey Pines, and being medalist at the United States Junior Amateur. On the Girls side Casie Cathrea is our most notable champion having already played in multiple LPGA Events and continues to dominate the junior ranks.

The San Diego Junior Amateur is the first event of the 2012 Callaway World Series Events developed by Future Champions Golf. The event will be ranked by Golfweek and NJGS.
